

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I feel greatly indebted to the University Grants Commission, New Delhi for the award of the Major Research Project and the financial assistance to pursue the research project. I convey my sincere thanks to the authorities of Deva Nagri College, Meerut for providing basic infrastructure facilities in the department of Physics and Chemistry to carry out the project. I also feel indebted to my project fellow for not only sincerely supporting the research work but also taking active part in resolving the technical issues in the research work.
